Key Risks

- Illiquidity risk: capital is locked up for up to 10-12 years with no early exit.
- Capital call / default risk: failure to fund a capital call on time can result in penalties, dilution, or forfeiture of the investor's interest.
- Valuation risk: quarterly NAVs are GP estimates, not independent market prices, and may not reflect realisable value.
- Leverage risk: underlying portfolio companies may themselves be leveraged, amplifying losses in a downturn.
- J-curve risk: early years typically show negative net returns before later-stage gains, if any.
- Total loss risk: individual portfolio companies, or the fund as a whole, can lose most or all of their value.
